

SWOT Analysis

Strengths and weaknesses:

The paediatric anaesthetists separately and collectively make a list of those aspects of their work which they perceive as good and those they think need improving. The aspects that need improving are considered, and any that can be fixed from within the department are addressed. The process continues until the list consists only of the strengths, and weaknesses over which the department has no control.

As part of our Peer Review we are undertaking a departmental SWOT analysis.
